SOUTHAMPTON COMMUNITY BAND
News & Notes

The band is very excited to kick off our 18th concert season on November 21. We have been working very hard during our Thursday rehearsals to prepare a wonderful program for you. I personally am very excited to lead this fine group and continue down the paths that my predecessors left in my care.

However, our excitement was dampened when we heard the news of Dr. Gil's passing. Dr. Gildo Guglielmi, our co-founder and Conductor Emeritus, passed away Monday evening, October 26. Dr. Gil led a long and rewarding life, that's for sure; and we as an ensemble are eternally grateful that this band is part of his legacy. We will honor him at our concert on November 21, and plan to provide a more fitting tribute at our March 2016 concert. The band members are sharing ideas on how we will honor his legacy.

Right now, I believe the most appropriate way for us to honor Dr. Gil is to be prepared and excited for our first concert together. Let me share with you what this concert "Tradition!" is all about.

From our humble but ambitious start in December 1998, to our most recent concert this past May, we have performed a wide range of music. From toe-tapping marches to tragic somber melodies; from classical to comedic and stage to screen; our band has played so much music. I started to think about the types of music we play, and how we've presented this music to you.

I procured copies of nearly every concert program. I poured over them, looking for trends. Certain tendencies materialized. Over the years, a variety themes and affinities emerged as others waned. I saw a beautiful ebb and flow to the music we prepare for you on a bi-monthly basis.

Seeing the entire band's performance history right before my eyes was an exciting and humbling experience. Without revealing too many details, I hope that this concert (and the season as a whole) shows all involved what an amazing, rich, vibrant tradition this band has created for itself and for you. Please spend the evening with us on November 21 as we acknowledge and honor our band's traditions, and maybe start a new one (or two) in the process.
